

Poetry

by John Butler

Destined to Joy - Mystic poems

In this, his 3rd book, John Butler distils spiritual essence from the principle “To make whole, be whole” - first whispered to his heart as a young man 50 years ago – now realised, fulfilled.

From observation to insight and the higher consciousness of faith, exploring the infinite by prayer and meditation – his clearly understandable poetry reveals the One in all considered separate or lost today.

Farewell to Death

After a lifetime’s meditation, following his heart and always close to nature, John has been blessed with many insights – recorded and published as Wonders of Spiritual Unfoldment and Mystic Approaches.

Transcending the problematic world of separation, he now lets poetry express the dawning of Oneself as pure existence.

His clear-sighted, simple words, written directly from experience, encourage us to seriously receive those spiritual “Treasures in heaven” which bring enlightenment to worldly life and accompany the soul beyond the grave ...

These two companion, pocket sized volumes of about 170 pages each may be obtained for £10 from the author’s website www.spiritualunfoldment.co.uk